Table of Contents

Preface: ‘Cartographic Encounters’ – the Editors

Volume I: Cartography and the Government

Maps and Indian Country

1. Patrice H. Kunesh, “Mapping the Legal Frontier of Indian Policy in the United States”
5. Imre Sutton, “Official State Maps of the Tribes: General Practice and the Exceptions”

Maps and Native Presence

7. Louis De Vorsey, Jr., “The Southern Indian Boundary Line”
8. William J. Gribb and Daniel G. Cole, “The Use of GIS to Analyze the Native American Tribal Information from the Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery”

Mapping Dispossession: Treaties, Land Rectangular Survey, and Reservations

Role of Government Mapping: Overview and Current Efforts

Volume II: Cartography and the Academy

Introduction

Science and Innovative Efforts at Mapping Native America

17. Anne K. McTavish and Nancy Lee Wilkinson, “Critical Cartography and the Case of the Winnemem Wintu”

Cartographic Applications & Approaches

20. Martha L. Henderson: “Geospatial Analysis of Protestant Missions in the American West during the late Nineteenth Century”

Applied Cartography - Land Claims and Cartographic Synthesis

27. David J. Wishart, “Indian Country and Indian Character: The Story of Two Maps”

Volume III: Cartography and Indigenous Autonomy

Introduction

Maps: Their Importance to Indigenous Peoples

29. William Meadows: “‘We want our land as it is’: Black Goose’s Map as an Example of Kiowa Political Cartography”
30. Richmond L. Clow, “The Tribal Land Enterprise of the Rosebud Sioux”

33. Claudio Aporta, “Inuit Oral Maps: Describing the Land with Words”

Sustaining Indigenous Identity and Legacy

34. Thomas E. Tollett, “Our Place in the World: The Citizen Potawatomi Nation”

37. Steven Haberfeld, “The Timbisha Quest for Land”

Indigenous Initiative in Resource Management

38. Diane L. Krahe, “Mapping Indian Wilderness: An Untenable Exercise in Paternalism”

Information Systems at the Nisqually Department of Natural Resources”

Addenda

A. Review of Atlases, Handbooks and Related Compilations.

Atlases

Other Compilations

Almanacs and Handbooks

Miscellaneous Volumes

B. Imre Sutton, “Indian Country: Three Geographic Views.”

C. Reflections

D. Postscript by G. Malcolm Lewis

E. General Bibliography

F. Abbreviations

G. Contributors